Message from the Founders'

“Stir up the Innovative Genius in You”

The world is not standing still and new challenges are emerging all around us as we contemplate social and economic development. Universities like Riara must lead the way in finding and fashioning the best solutions.

For me, Riara University Commencement ceremony is always a moment of reflection. This 3rd Commencement Ceremony is no exception.

I cast my eyes back more than 6 years ago when the first few students came to enroll at Riara, as a completely new and unknown university. Then I make a big sweep with my mind's eye to the present. Today approximately 270 students are graduating in different fields of study. It gives me a lot of satisfaction to know that most of the students who have graduated from Riara in the past have found jobs of their choice in the private sector and other organizations in Kenya.

We at Riara University must look beyond the well-known and quite often overused fields of occupations. The world is not standing still and new challenges are emerging all around in our pursuits of social and economic development. Universities like Riara must lead the way in finding and fashioning the best solutions to these new challenges.

For developing countries like Kenya, technology and innovation are areas of urgent and critical importance. As a young and vibrant university Riara must venture and indeed provide cutting-edge solutions for Kenya in these two areas of national development.

Chairman Board of Trustees, Riara University
Chairman & CEO - Riara Group of Schools

Message from the Founders'

We are delighted to witness this auspicious occasion of the Riara University's 3rd commencement ceremony. It gives us immense pleasure to see yet another group of young (and not so young) minds being shaped and lives being empowered for immeasurable long term impact.

In the creation of the Riara University, we deliberately aimed at the goal of empowering and liberating our people. As we will keep on reminding the Riara fraternity, our forefathers made immense sacrifices in the process of liberating our beloved country Kenya towards the attainment of political freedom.

By the time Kenya achieved political independence in 1963, among the uppermost development goals identified were elimination of IGNORANCE, POVERTY, and DISEASE. These were clearly articulated in Sessional Paper No. 5 of 1965. What is amazing is that our clarity of vision does not always lead to the achievement of our development goals.

Today, 56 years after independence, we still have children out of school (never enrolled and drop-outs) long after the declaration of FREE PRIMARY EDUCATION. Poverty remains a scourge 56 years after independence, despite elaborate annual economic reviews, and five year development plans.

Even as we congratulate you sincerely, we draw your attention to these challenges in order to help you appreciate the Government's current priorities as summarized by H.E. the President in the Big Four Agenda. We challenge each one of you to stir in yourselves the will and the resolve to develop solutions to the identified challenges which continue to bedevil millions of Kenyans.

Your education must contribute to the elimination of basic challenges hindering vulnerable Kenyans from enjoying the true meaning of development. We indulge in believing that your tenure at RU has stimulated your creativity, originality, and indeed your INNOVATIVE GENIUS.

We pray that as you transit to employment in the formal or informal sectors, or to pursue continuing education and training, you will be continually guided by genuine selflessness, empathy, emotional intelligence, integrity, and personal responsibility.

We indulge in believing that your tenure at RU has stimulated your creativity, originality, and indeed your
INNOVATIVE GENIUS

We urge you to make genuine and lasting improvement in the condition of all Kenyans and humanity your central concern.

PONGEZI!

Message from the Chancellor

Never Lose Your Curiosity

It gives me great pleasure to preside over your commencement today, during this the 3rd Commencement Ceremony of Riara University. I congratulate you most sincerely on your achievement and highly commend you for sticking-the-course with the requisite discipline, dedication and resolve, all of which have enabled you to reap the wonderful fruits of graduation today.

The ability to study, comprehend, and intelligently apply new-found knowledge is one of the truest marks of humanity. Only we as human beings have this ability. As you graduate today, you join a community of scholars who have proven that mankind can indeed conquer any obstacle placed before them. This, as I am certain you have noted along your academic journey so far, does not come easily, but rather comes after many sacrifices along the way. From my many years of experience in the corporate world, having served some of the biggest corporate brands and NGOs locally and abroad in various capacities, I can assure you that the sacrifices you have made during your study time do not end with graduation; they are the true ingredients of success in whatever other steps you take in life. In this regard, and based on my experiences, I urge you to take to heart these key lessons that I have learnt along the way, and which will help you Stir Up Your Innovative Genius every day:

1. Never lose your curiosity: From birth, we are all born curious. This is what taught us timeless skills. Life however dims this curiosity in many ways. A curious mind is the source of all human transformations. Read widely, challenge the status quo, ask the right questions, talk to the right people about the right things, try things out, just do it.
2. Listen: Those who talk are many, but it is in listening that you will pick immense wisdom, knowledge and information to help you create life changing solutions, especially if you listen without judging.
3. Remain humble: Just like listening, humility builds trust, trust builds credibility, and credibility brings countless opportunities your way. Humility however should never be confused with timidity. Humility is very strong inner strength that respects others too.
4. Love and Empathise: Starting with yourself, love is the most powerful weapon with which you can transform yourself and the world. Be genuinely concerned about your colleagues, family, business associates, the poor, the lost, the helpless, the hopeless.

Be reminded of the following words by Og Mandino in his Bestselling book titled: The Greatest Salesman in the World:

I will greet this day with love in my heart. For this is the greatest secret of success in all ventures. Muscle can splinter shield and even destroy life, but only the unseen power of love can open the hearts of men; and until I master this art, I will remain no more than a peddler in the market place. I will make love my greatest weapon and none on whom I call, can defend against its force.

DR. WILFRED KIBORO
Chancellor, Riara University

Message from the Chair, University Council

Be Switched-On, Always!

Hearty congratulations to you the Graduating Class of 2019 on your tremendous achievements that we celebrate today. The entire University Council has keenly monitored your journey over the years and we are truly delighted and proud to join you, your family and friends to celebrate your victory.

As you celebrate, I take this opportunity to welcome you to the world of work, further studies, and self-enterprise. I assure you that the world out there will be extremely exciting for you if you are willing to invest yourself into what it takes to succeed. It can also be an awfully daunting jungle of frustration and despair if you are not careful. My prayer for you is that you will be counted among the men and women that truly transformed the lives of others in their lifetime. Go create solutions that empower and enrich the lives of others. At the Commercial Bank of Africa (CBA) for example, we have been privileged to come up with life-changing innovations such as M-Shwari and LOOP, both of which I am certain you are all very familiar with. These innovations have not come from the blues. They have come from Kenyans who put the attention not on themselves, but on the lives of others.

As Zig Ziglar said, “it is your attitude, more than your aptitude, that will determine your altitude”. As you graduate today, determine that you will work on both your aptitude and attitude daily. Here are few tips to help you have a winning attitude in this life: Always begin with the end in mind; Accept you do not know everything; Remember choices have consequences; Seek to learn from anyone, anything, everything and everyone; Be willing to be wrong; Learn to say I am sorry; Be switched-on always; and whatever you do, do not procrastinate whatever needs to be done today to tomorrow. Act now, Act fast, Act wisely.

You are a truly remarkable and gifted individual. The world and I are waiting in great expectation for your next big (or small) innovation, and we will be truly delighted to have been part of your tremendous journey of success and empowered lives.

On behalf of all the members of the University Council, I wish you every true success.

Vice Chancellor's Message

Go Nourish

Today marks one of the most important days of your life. A day when family and friends witness your intellectual conquest as you join the just over 1 million Kenyans with a degree. This means that you are within the top 3% of the most educated persons in Kenya. For the Diploma graduands, you are among the top 10% while for our foreign graduands, it should interest you to check up the statistics in your country. Whereas these statistics should elate you with a sense of high accomplishment (and rightfully so), my charge to you is to focus more on the impact that you need to make on the rest of the 97% or 90% of the population. Nothing describes better my expectation of you than the most abundant commodity on earth: WATER! Water was there at the beginning (Genesis 1:2) and it has immense qualities, which if you spent time to digest, you will discover timeless lessons to guide you through the journey ahead. Here are 12-Life-Lessons-from-Water[®] that I have personally picked for you:

Water is life: Give life and hope wherever you go, create new solutions

Water nourishes: Inspire and mentor others. Change the status-quo

Water cleanses: Bring freshness wherever you go, remove the toxicity that is in the world

Water soothes: Empathise with those in need and give comfort whenever required to

Water changes form easily: Be adaptable and be willing to take on a new self whenever necessary

Water always finds a way: Have a winning attitude. No matter what obstacles come your way, find a way

Water that stagnates, develops a stench: Never stop learning and discovering new territories

Water creates rainbows: Embrace diversity, take time to play, have fun and recreate

Deep waters flow silently: Be strong, resolute and deep on the inside, you will not need to make too much noise on the outside

Water cuts through rock: Whatever you can't push away, be persistent and you will create a path to your destiny

Water cuts through metal (yes it does): With total focus, commitment and persistence, nothing, absolutely nothing, can stand on your way

Water is never lost: Be eternal, reinvent yourself regularly, and ensure you leave a mark, even after you are long gone

Wishing you nothing but the very best as you discover new horizons!
